Muskies Beat Gilman, 20-19

Norman Baker

(HIMSELF)

QUICK ACTION—the Muscatine Chamber of Commerce at their last meeting established a record for SPEED. Chairman asked for report of committee regarding affairs of Radio Station K-TNT—speaker arose and said—WE HAVE NOTHING TO REPORT. Thanks, gentlemen.

Regarding the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—Professor of the University of Wisconsin, spoke before the Progressive conference at Carlton hotel in Washington, D. C., and ridiculed the chamber of commerce as useless and a detriment to the public—an association to grind axes. ALL SHOULD HAVE HEARD HIS TALK. In Washington, D. C., is the national office of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and all the little CHAMBERS belong to it as a subsidiary—they get their instructions for action by circular letters and printed circulars—STERO-TYPED—that's why WALL STREET so successfully controls the governing of all cities of America where they have little CHAMBERS. "RULE or RUIN" is the motto.

MUSCATINE'S Chamber of Commerce—surely will not have any riding from now on—most all of the FEW MEMBERS they now have are much peeved over the last meeting when nearly ONE HOUR was taken up in RAILROADING a stock proposition and endorsing it for Muscatine's buyers. VERY CLEVER on part of promoters BUT it is risky for any Association to publicly endorse a stock issue—we have had others in Muscatine that wasted HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS—our packing plant, Thermopack and others—all of which were gone into without a careful, detailed and INTELLIGENT SURVEY. When an association gives its time to endorsing things they are NOT SURE WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT they are playing WITH FIRE—means REGRETS. "Be careful of your investments, money is scarce and don't be influenced by any groups against your own best judgment. Things often look FLOWERY on paper but ALL RED when the balance sheet comes along. It's the old story of running after the bird in the bush and letting the bird in the hand escape. AN ENDORSEMENT OF MUSCATINE'S CHAMBER does not soak in deep with all.

SPEAKING OF INDUSTRIES—It requires more than a half hour confab around a table to make a decision as to what is best for a COMMUNITY. Thousands of cities have been stung—thousands of cities through their secretaries of the commercial associations write THOUSANDS OF LETTERS inviting new industries—BUT IT STOPS THERE. Commercial associations—so called "CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE"—are not feverishly looking for new industries, except in cases where someone may have stock for sale, and then "PUT IT OVER" by their clique. Chambers of Commerce with their Wall Street connections through the national chamber in Washington, are all that their names imply.

SOME IOWA LEGISLATORS ARE SMART—very smart—believe in freedom—WHY? They fought and are fighting hard against compulsory military training, and hard they should fight. Many mothers believe "They didn't raise their boy to be a soldier" and feel, in fact they know, that they raised him with enough patriotism "TO FIGHT WHEN HE IS NEEDED." Many other legislators will CATCH ON, they are not asleep.

BAKER WINNER OF MOTION IN STATE COURT

Attorney General Loses Plea to Rush Hearing

DES MOINES, Ia.—(Special)—The effort of the Attorney General's office to have the Supreme Court advance the time allotted by law to Norman Baker to file a petition for a re-hearing by the court of the injunction appeal, failed today when the motion to that effect filed by the state was over-ruled. The supreme court recently filed an opinion reversing the judgment of the lower court which had denied the state an injunction against Norman Baker. The law provides sixty days for filing a petition for a re-hearing. The attorney general's office attempted to have the supreme court require Baker to file his petition within 50 days.

The matter was argued this morning, Attorney J. F. Devitt representing Baker. The court set May 5 as the date on which the full court will hear arguments on the petition for re-hearing, the matter being given precedence to all other matters scheduled to come before the supreme court during the May term. Under the ruling today, Baker has until April 17th to file his petition for the re-hearing.

Local attorneys stated today that the effort of the attorney general to deprive Baker of his legal rights in the matter of filing a petition for a re-hearing was without precedent in the state of Iowa. The code of 1927 specifically gives sixty days in which to file such a petition and the motion of the attorney general to advance the time for filing was declared by local attorneys to be a plain effort to deprive Baker of rights clearly given him by the law of Iowa.

JUDGE POSTPONES KASSAY HEARING

AKRON, O.—(INS)—Hearing for Paul F. Kassay, 37, on charges of criminal syndicalism in connection with the alleged plot to destroy the new navy dirigible, the Akron, was continued until next Thursday by Municipal Judge Frank Harvey today on the request of Assistant County Prosecutor George Har-

Kassay's bond was set at $20,000. Mrs. Yetta Land, attorney for the accused man, stated that the bond was being raised and that Kassay probably would be released late today.

Agents of the department of justice who said Kassay had admitted the dirigible plot announced that they have found evidence tending to link Kassay with the crash of a crack navy bombing plane at San Diego, Calif., last September when Pilot W. Y. Ypharraguerre was killed.

Burlington Woman, Ill, Kills Herself

BURLINGTON, Ia.—(INS)—Mrs. Walter Appel, 33, of Burlington, is dead today. She ended her life by inhaling gas in the basement of her home. Dependancy over ill health was given as the cause. Firemen used an inhalator for two hours until their efforts were in vain.

FEDERAL TAXES MAY INCREASE

Boost in Income Levies Probable Is Report

WASHINGTON.—(INS)—The country may face an increase in federal income taxes to offset anticipated treasury deficits, but not before the 1932 presidential campaign, it was learned today on Capitol Hill.

The expected deficit of $700,000,000 on July 1, the end of the current fiscal year, will be met by the issuance of short-term certificates, thus postponing the day of accounting. This will postpone a decision of increasing taxes until the end of the next fiscal year, or July 1, 1932. As that date falls in the midst of the next presidential campaign, political leaders were agreed there could be no increase in federal taxes until after the election.

The administration, meanwhile will try to hold down expenditures and institute government economies during the coming fiscal year. Administration leaders in the next congress likewise will strive to reduce the ever-growing appropriations for the following fiscal year ending June 30, 1933. They are hopeful of cutting the annual cost of government far below the $5,300,000,000 figure reached in the session just closed.

The administration's hope to avoid a tax increase rests largely on the trend of business activity in the next 12 months. A sharp recovery in business would bring greater revenue to the government and might even obviate the necessity for increasing taxes at all.

IRISH OFFICIAL LL

LONDON.—(INS)—The Hon. Timothy Healy, former governor general of the Irish Free State, is seriously ill at his home near Dublin, it was stated by the London Evening Standard today.

ASSESSOR BILL IS DEFEATED IN HOUSE, 65-41

May Mean Defeat of Income Tax in Senate

By LOWELL M. FUCKETT

DES MOINES.—(INS)—State administration forces today had received their first hard blow in regard to their tax revision program. The county assessor bill, as prepared by the joint legislative tax committee, was defeated Friday by the Iowa house of representatives by a vote of 65 to 41. The result apparently presages defeat of the income tax measure in the senate.

Most of the day the lower house debated on amendments to the assessor measure, each of which was dropped by the wayside, with the exception of two which clarified the meaning of the wording. A change prepared by Reimers of Lyons to eliminate the county auditor and county treasurer from the appointing board for county assessor was the first to be defeated. Then two successive amendments by Sumner of Wapello, who was the leader of the fight against the measure, were voted down. One would have made it optional with the county board of supervisors whether or not they would appoint a county assessor.

Among the list of opponents that appeared on the floor against the measure were Representatives Berry of Monroe, and Garrett of Wayne. Representative McCauley, a member of the tax committee which drafted the bill, was supported by Husted of Madison, Gallagher of Iowa, Johnson of Marion, Greene of Pottawattamie, Donlon of Palo Alto and Reimers of Lyons.

As the fate of the income measure in the senate, depended much upon the disposition made in the house, the measure in the senate, grave doubts were being expressed in Capitol Hill, regarding the success the income fee proposal will meet with in the upper house. The house has passed the income tax bill and the senate had approved the assessor measure, both of which had received the endorsement and support of Governor Dan Carter.

Boone Defeats Roosevelt, 16-15

DRAKE FIELDHOUSE, DES MOINES.—Boone high school moved into the finals of the state high school basketball tournament this afternoon by upsetting Roosevelt (Des Moines) 16 to 15.

Boone led nearly all the way, Roosevelt's rally in the final quarter falling short by one point. As the sun ended the game Barker, Roosevelt, missed a setup that would have won the game for the locals. Ten seconds previously McMichael, star Roosevelt center, had dropped one through the basket to bring the score to 16 to 15.

Wingo, Boone guard, was easily the outstanding player of the game. His defensive tactics holding the highly counted Roosevelt offensive completely under control.

The score at the half was Boone 10, Roosevelt 6.

CHURCHES FAVOR BIRTH CONTROL

NEW YORK.—(INS)—The "guarded" approval of birth control given by the committee on marriage and the home of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, embracing a membership of more than 22,000,000 persons, today was the subject of much controversy among laymen and clergy alike.

The committee's majority report, favoring some form of effective control of the size of the family and the spacing of children, was signed by 22 of its 28 members, including Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., George W. Wickersham, and Mrs. John Ferguson, president of the National Council of Federated Church Women.

Of the remaining six members of the committee three signed a minority report advocating control through abstinence, among them the Rev. Dr. Howard Chandler Robbins, chairman of the committee.

Tries to Capture Policeman, Killed

CHICAGO.—(INS)—Death came to Edward Rose, 18, today because he tried to mannap plain clothes Policeman Howard Doyle at the point of a revolver. Doyle was seated in his car when the young bandit entered it with gun drawn and forced him to drive away. The officer wrested the revolver from Rose and drawing his own gun shot the bandit five times.

Mill City Catholic Quintet Is Winner

President Hoover Presides At Battleship Inspection

By GEORGE E. DURO

ABOARD U. S. S. ARIZONA. En route to Porto Rico.—(INS)—The semi-tropical area entered by the battleship Arizona today on its voyage to the Caribbean made the newly born spring season pleasantly real for President Hoover and his party. Flannels appeared as if by magic and the officers changed into spotless white.

The great steel ship, plowing along at an average speed of fourteen knots, was also spick and span after generous applications of "elbow grease" by several hundred sailors, who trimmed her down for a "captain's inspection" this morning.

The chief inspector will be the president of the United States, of course, accompanied by War Secretary Patrick J. Hurley and Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur.

HAHN SCORES BASKET THAT WINS VICTORY

Locals to Play Boone For State Title Tonight

DRAKE FIELDHOUSE, DES MOINES.—(By Radio)—With 5,000 Iowa basketball fans cheering themselves hoarse, the Muscatine high school basketball squad noed out a fighting team from Gilman in the semi-finals of the state tournament here this afternoon, 20 to 19. The victory qualified the powerful Little Muskies for the championship game with Boone at 8:30 tonight. Roosevelt Hi of Des Moines and Gilman will meet in the consolation game at 7:15.

Captain Hahn of the Little Muskies led his team in scoring with four field goals and three free throws. Barke, the tall Muscatine center, was away off form but managed to register seven points on three field goals and a charity toss. Westerfield was the big noise for Gilman with five field goals and four free throws to take high scoring honors of as hard fought a battle as has ever been staged on the Drake floor.

Off Form at Start

In the first quarter, the Little Muskies were clearly off form in their shooting. Barke, Hahn and Utley being the chief offenders. Time and again one or the other of the three Muscatine scoring aces would break away from their men for open shots only to miss by narrow margins. However, field goals by Barke and J. Wilson and two free throws by Hahn, against a basket and charity toss by Westerfield enabled the Little Muskies to finish the first period out in front, 6 to 3.

Westerfield, the big Gilman center, went on a scoring rampage in the second quarter, scoring three buckets from the field and three free throws for all of Gilman's points to give his team a 14 to 11 lead at the intermission. J. Wilson of Muscatine was forced from the game late in the second quarter on personals. Muscatine's points in the second quarter were scored by Hahn with a field goal and a free throw and a bucket from the field by Barke.

Tight defensive play by both teams featured the third quarter. Each scored two field goals and a free throw. Muscatine's core as pretty shots by Hahn and Barke and a charity toss by the latter while Westerfield and Gunderson scored field goals for Gilman and Winters dropped in a free throw.

Muskies Break Stall

In the last quarter the Little Muskies proved their class by chalking up two beautiful field goals by Hahn while displaying a defense that stopped the high-powered Westerfield and his mates dead in their tracks. Hahn broke into the open just after the period opened and added two points to Muscatine's total to make the score 19 to 18 and Gilman elected to take time out.

When play was resumed Gilman tried to stall but Muscatine broke it up and Hahn took a sweet pass from Barke to score again which put the Little Muskies out in front, 20 to 19. Gilman took time out again with only minute and a half left to play but the strategy did not work as Muscatine also stalled and held onto its narrow lead until the final gun cracked. The score:

STATE PAROLE BOARD BLAMED FOR OUTBREAK

Favoritism Cause of Riots in Joliet Prison

JOLIET, Ill. — (INS) — Blame for the recent prison riots in Joliet was put squarely up to the state parole board by two clerics who appeared today before the legislative investigating committee.

Both declared the board does not devote enough time to hearing cases and that in many instances sentences were too long, and inequitably pronounced.

At the same time, stories were told of former days when it was charged paroles could be bought and there was testimony relating to charges of dope peddling within the prison walls of men being "taken for a ride" of efforts to "frame" inmates on murder charges; of the activities of "stool" pigeons, and the constant apprehension that there would be just such outbreaks as those of recent weeks.

Priest Testifies

Rev. George L. Whitmeyer, former Episcopal chaplain, and Father Elijiah Weir, Catholic chaplain, were the two who told their stories to the committee today. Summed up, Father Weir's testimony was: "I am sure there are innocent men in the prison. In 35,000 personal interviews in four and a half years, at least 5,000 have been complaints against the parole board. The board does not devote enough time to its work. I have not attended meetings of the board and what I say is what I have learned from the boys. But prisons were not made to permit the wreaking of private vengeance. When hearings are held, the 'rappers' are notified and the board believes the rappers rather than the boys. I am told abusive language is used when they are before the board and many of them declare they are sentenced on their past records rather than the new record."

Whitmeyer's Charges

The Rev. Whitmeyer charged that cruel treatment in the prisons is common, that the food served the convicts is bad, that narcotics and liquor have been circulated among the inmates. He resigned shortly before the recent series of riots, denouncing the killing by guards of three escaping convicts as "murder."

Warden Henry C. Hill testified before the legislative committee that trouble has been brewing ever since August, 1929, over the ruling that old prisoners are not eligible for parole under the modified robbery law, reducing the penalty from ten years to life to one to ten years.

The warden agreed that overcrowding was a contributing factor to the discontent.

May Probe Inquests

Chairman Roger F. Little and Rep. Isaac today declared that the committee would go fully into the records of the coroner's inquest into the various deaths, and upon the committee's study of the records will depend whether the coroner and others will be called before the legislators in an effort to ascertain if there was any "white-washing" in the local investigation.

Such charges have been made, according to members of the committee.

Col. Frank D. Whipp, superintendent of prisons, was the first witness before the committee during the closing session last night and discussed the general management of the prisons. He endorsed a suggestion voiced by Warden Hill that there would be a warden for each of the prison here.

Col. Whipp advocated stern discipline, and declared that confinement in solitary, "in the hole" as it is regulated at the two prisons, is not too severe for disturbers.

Gaynor-Farrell at A-Muse-U Sunday in Dramatic Picture

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, the screen's most popular sweethearts, are re-united in Raoul Walsh's Fox Movietone production of "The Man Who Came Back," which opens Sunday at the A-Muse-U theater.

"The Man Who Came Back," one of the most powerful romantic dramas ever written, presents Miss Gaynor and Farrell in the greatest roles of their co-starring careers.

Farrell, as the ne'er-do-well son of New York's king of finance, falls from grace. Improperly trained to face the world, he sinks, step by step until he finally reaches the lowest dive in Shanghai.

There, drawn by natural forces, he is attracted to a girl one rung above himself in degradation. Together, hand in hand, impelled by their new found faith, their courage is re-born in misery. Clinging to each other they climb to a seventh heaven through love.

The girl, of course, is played by Miss Gaynor, and she and Farrell give an interpretation of these dramatic roles that will astound their many friends. Kenneth MacKenzie and William Forbes are also in the cast.

WOMAN TELLS OF VICE PLOTS

Grand Jury Gets Evidence Against Chicago Police

CHICAGO. — (INS) — After a session that extended into the morning hours the special grand jury investigating police corruption today was in possession of a startling array of testimony of police graft furnished by Mrs. Shirley Kub, one-time under-cover agent for Police Commissioner John H. Alcock.

Before the woman investigator suddenly dropped from sight several weeks ago amid rumors of a kidnapping she had boasted that she "had enough on half the police captains of Chicago to blow them from their jobs."

Mrs. Kub, held in the county jail for refusing to talk last month, suddenly decided to tell all Friday and she was brought before the grand jury where she testified for sixteen hours.

Documentary evidence was produced to substantiate her story, it was said. Four police captains as well as other officials had been named up to mingling police corruption today was in possession of a startling array of testimony of police graft furnished by Mrs. Shirley Kub, one-time under-cover agent for Police Commissioner John H. Alcock.

Indictments are expected to follow the woman's testimony.

NEW ECONOMIC SET-UP NEEDED, RICHMAN SAYS

Discusses Declining Birth Rate Before Pythians

By 1950 the population of the United States will have ceased increasing unless present economic conditions are changed, according to Irving B. Richman, nationally known author and historian, who Friday night addressed the open meeting of the local Knights of Pythias lodge.

In his address, entitled "America Twenty Years Hence," Richman pointed out that in the last 150 years America's population increased faster than that of any other country, but it has now slowed up alarmingly. If present economic conditions can be rectified, he said, our population can continue to increase rapidly. The conditions, he said, can be changed by co-operation without governmental action. He suggested agricultural co-operatives to transfer population to localities where it is most needed, and pictured a future in which incomes will be nearer one standard, with less business uncertainty and unemployment.

Older Men to Run Things
In the next 20 years, he said, older men will assume a more important place in the business world, replacing the present demand for youth. Men between 45 and 65 years old will run things hereafter, he predicted.

District Deputy Grand Chancellor John J. Huggins of Fairfield gave an address on "The Ideals of Pythianism," outlining development of the organization's principles from the days of Pythagoras, Greek philosopher of 100 B. C.

Tells of Accomplishments
Grand Chancellor Frank Hite of Marengo addressed the meeting on "Perseverance." He told of the story of Pythianism, and gave many instances in which the lodge is giving financial aid to needy students.

Past Grand Master R. B. Huff of Muscatine spoke on his experiences in the 49 years he has been a member of the organization.

The Pythian Four quartet of Forest City Lodge 37, Fairfield, entertained with many selections. Members of the quartet are: William Cupp, first tenor; D. D. Howell, second tenor; M. V. Gumm, baritone; and Glen Carlsen, bass.

Delegations were present from nearby lodges with candidates and prospective candidates.

Commander Fred C. Greshing presided at the meeting, which was held in connection with the educational program being sponsored by the local lodge with the co-operation of the seventh district speakers' bureau of which C. B. Mason is secretary and Frank Drake chairman.

SPRING IS HERE, CALENDAR SAYS
Arrival of New Season Is Accompanied by Mild Weather

Muscatine residents have become so accustomed to the varying climate of the California variety during the winter season that the official arrival of spring today failed to evince but little more than ordinary interest.

Many temperatures, presence of robins and lawns assuming a decided greenish tint gave indication that the spring season had really arrived on the date scheduled by the calendar despite the fact that weather bureau records have told a different story in other years.

Hints of possible snow or rain during the past two days were dispelled today by rising temperatures and forecasts by the weather bureau that cloudiness with not much change in temperature will prevail over the week-end.

The official reading here at 7 o'clock this morning was 38 degrees above the zero mark, a rise of eight degrees in temperature since Friday morning. The weather was partly cloudy with the wind in the east. The river stage today was 2.3 feet, a rise of one inch since Friday morning.

Mrs. Hyink, Old Resident, Dies
Mrs. Frederica Hyink, 91, died early this morning at the home of her daughter, 973 Newell avenue, of the infirmities of age.

Mrs. Hyink was born in Winters, Wis., on Jan. 1, 1840. She came to this country in August, 1889, and two months later married Garrett H. Hyink, who died in 1910. With the exception of six years spent in Cline, N. Y., Mrs. Hyink had been a resident of Muscatine for the past 68 years.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. William Van Zyl; two sons, J. W. Hyink of Muscatine, and J. A. Hyink of Des Moines; 17 grandchildren; and 26 great-grandchildren. A second daughter, Hattie, died in 1910.

Funeral services will be held from the First Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Burial will be made in the family lot in Greenwood cemetery. The body was taken from the Wittich funeral home to 973 Newell avenue this morning and will remain there until the funeral.

All players left on the rosters of Erie, Canton, Fort Wayne and Dayton of the disbanded Central league were made free agents.

Ames Specialist To Hold Training School on Friday

Miss Helen Putnam, clothing specialist of the state extension department at Ames, will come to Muscatine next Friday to conduct a Four-H training school, it was announced today by Miss Grace Stevens, home demonstration agent.

Another important meeting scheduled for the week will be the monthly meeting of the board of directors to be held next Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Tuesday, Farm Bureau women of Wilton township will meet at the home of Mrs. Florence Bullington, for a study of the fifth project lesson, "Meals for Special Occasions."

A meeting to perfect an organization of 4-H club girls will be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ross Jean in Orono township. This meeting was postponed from today.

Midwestern Corp. Sued by Two Firms On Mechanic Leins

The Sanitary Heating and Plumbing company and the Pat's Electric Shop each filed today two mechanic lien actions today in district court against the Midwestern Food Products Corporation. Drake & Wilson are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Pat's Electric shop is asking sums of $168.20 and $278.29 respectively, and the Sanitary Heating and Plumbing company the sums of $891 and $56.10. The amounts are claimed for material furnished.

Railroads Fight Motor Transport
The state railroad commission will meet in Davenport Tuesday to discuss the application of the Mercer Transfer company of Burlington, which is trying to put through a plea to run motor buses between Burlington and Davenport. Many Muscatine firms are expected to be present at the hearing.

The C. D. & M. and Rock Island railroads will protest the granting of this permit on the grounds that it would mean elimination of rail service between Muscatine and Davenport if motor buses are allowed to operate. The hearing will be at the Hotel Blackhawk at 1:00 p. m.

Under plans for government control of radio broadcasting the 23 stations now operating in Muscatine will be reduced to 15, of sufficient power to adequately cover the country.

HAHN FARM IS SCENE OF FIRE

Boiler House Burned And Greenhouse Is Badly Damaged

Sparks from a locomotive are believed to have started a fire that Friday evening at 9:40 o'clock destroyed the boiler room building and damaged the greenhouse at the Henry B. Hahn farm in Fruitland township, causing a loss roughly estimated at more than $1,000.

The fire in the boiler house spread rapidly and was beyond control when the No. 1 fire truck arrived from Muscatine in response to a call for help. Water was thrown on the burning building by means of the booster tank, but seeing that the building could not be saved, the firemen directed their attention to saving the other structures.

Greenhouse Is Damaged
The fire extended from the boiler house to the coal shed, where a carload of coal had just been unloaded. A large part of forty tons of coal was burned, as was some of the framework in the hot houses. Firemen battled the blaze for one hour and by their prompt work were able to save adjacent buildings from probable destruction.

Whether the boiler was damaged had not yet been ascertained today. Some danger of cabbage and other plants grown in the house being damaged by the cold before the boiler is put into shape, was anticipated.

Iowa Man Receives Medal for Heroism
SPENCER, Ia. — (INS) — The Carnegie medal of honor today had been presented to E. J. Malloy for saving the life of Donald K. Veneema, during the summer of 1927. The presentation was made Friday night at a meeting of the Spencer Commercial club.

Malloy saved the life of the boy, then a year and a half old, when he went down into a well into which Donald had fallen near Wallingford, and brought the lad safely out. He was lowered into the well by ropes after it had been declared that the boy could not be saved.

GERMANY MAY SEEK ALLIANCE WITH FRANCE

Economic Demand to Force Change, Says Dr. Bosch

BERLIN—(INS)—Closely Franco-German economic co-operation, based chiefly on an exchange of capital for labor, has been sponsored as the only means to consolidate Europe by Professor Dr. Carl Bosch, prominent German industrialist and chairman of the board of trustees of the I. G. Farbenindustrie A. G.

Describing the United States as the winner of the World War, economically speaking, and the war itself as marking the end of Europe's world-economic hegemony, Bosch declares that the Soviet Union and Great Britain have eliminated themselves from old Continental Europe, Russia by forming a permanent political and economic menace to the rest of the world, and Great Britain by being tied up by its own troubles in Asia and India and by concentrating on the consolidation of the Empire.

"All economic bloc of European Powers could rise only from a regional economic exchange," says Bosch.

Condemns Treaty

Claiming that the Versailles Treaty, owing to its preponderant political aims, has made Europe a hot-bed of permanent crises, and that neither the Dawes nor the Young Plan created a basis for European co-operation, Bosch pleads for a Franco-German economic exchange as the only means to solve the problem.

"Germany and France are two nations predestined by nature for a far-reaching economic prosperity. Political antagonism has so far prevented such an exchange. The only result of a century-old Franco-German struggle has been the perpetual shifting to and fro of a narrow border territory along the Rhine. It is about time to break up the rigid fronts by a dynamic economic exchange. A high-percentage Franco-German exchange would immediately result in an economic understanding between the two nations."

His Proposal

Bosch proposes a Franco-German exchange on the following basis:

- 1.—French capital for the German industry. France, according to his opinion, ranks right behind the United States as a powerful financier.
- 2.—German labor for France and her colonies. Germany, says Bosch, has an abundance of labor, while France suffers from scarcity of man power.
- 3.—Exchange of French ores for German coal. Germany buys from France twenty percent of ores needed for industrial purposes, while France buys 27 percent of her coal supply from Germany.
- 4.—German machinery for French textile wares. Forty-six per cent of German exports go to France. The present exchange should and could be almost doubled, claims Bosch.

Bosch concludes his article by saying: "It is one of the most important tasks for reasonable people in Germany and France to help create a basis for a consolidation of Germany and France, and thereby of Europe, by overcoming political antagonism and by propagating a reign of economic reason."

Commenting on Bosch's proposal to exchange French capital for German labor, the Communist central organ "Rote Fahne" violently assails "poison-gas Bosch" charging that Bosch exports "poison" to France capital, with the final object of consolidating Europe for a general attack on the Soviet Union.

OPEN WINTER HASTENS R. R.

120-Mile Gap Nears Completion in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—A new transportation hookup bringing the Great Northern and Western Pacific railroad systems together is rapidly nearing completion as construction crews rapidly close the 120-mile gap between the Northern's railroad at Klamath Falls and the Western's main line at Keddie, Calif.

An open winter has favored contractors and hundreds of men have received employment during the winter months as the two construction camps approach Bieber, Calif., where they will meet.

Although the Great Northern has somewhat more of the line to build, most of the engineering problems are on the Western Pacific's end, where the new line climbs up out of the Feather River canyon.

With the completion of the road one of the fondest dreams of James J. Hill, pioneer railroad builder, will be fulfilled. The Great Northern trains roar down the Deschutes river, through Klamath and the Sacramento valley and into San Francisco.

From Klamath Falls the new right-of-way traverses the fertile Klamath basin for about 20 miles, passing the famous Modoc lava beds, Indian war ground, and plunges into the heavy timber on the east slope of the Sierra.

Bieber, junction point, is in the heart of Big Valley, an agricultural region that is expected to develop with the advent of rail transportation.

TWENTY-EIGHT STILL MISSING FROM WRECK

Hope Viking Victims Are Living Is Fading

By E. A. JEFFERY

ST. JOHN'S, N. F.—(INS)—With 127 survivors of the destroyed sealing ship Viking safe aboard rescue ships near Horse Island, the last hope for the finding of 28 missing members of the Varick Frisell film expedition in Newfoundland's ice-jammed region was centered today on a projected air expedition organized in Boston.

Drugged food and medical supplies Rescue parties from three sealers over five miles of treacherous ice to the hungry victims sheltered in five fishermen's huts on the bleak shore, but further clues as to the fate of Frisell and A. Gam Penrod, his assistant, were not available.

Tea and Biscuits

Doctors administered first aid to those injured in Sunday's blast, which shattered the stern of the Viking before fire burned the 50-year-old vessel to the water's edge. Later all of the survivors, who had been subsisting on rations of tea and biscuits, were transferred to the rescue ships Imogene and Sagona.

Messages from Horse Island stated that the survivors might be taken to the American Mission hospital on Twilight Island in Notre Dame bay, unless heavy ice jams in that region prevented the transfer. In that case, they will be brought here.

Travel Eight Miles

Twenty-one of the rescued men dragged themselves from the scene of the wreck over eight miles of small, but it was understood here that Bert Balchen and Merlan Cooper, American aviators, intended to make a thorough search of the ice-locked region where the Viking was wrecked.

Of the others, W. Kennedy suffered from pneumonia, and Clayton King of frozen feet.

Hope for those unaccounted for was small, but it was understood here that Bert Balchen and Merlan Cooper, American aviators, intended to make a thorough search of the ice-locked region where the Viking was wrecked.

MURDERED GANGSTER BOMB PLOT SUSPECT

CHICAGO—(INS)—Three weeks before his assassination Thursday, William J. Rooney, powerful labor leader, was sought for questioning in regard to the bombing of half a dozen of Chicago's largest mercantile concerns, Chief of Detectives John Norton disclosed today.

His suspected connection with the terrorism may have been the motive of Rooney's killers, Norton said. At the same time, he declared Rooney was suspected of trying to muscle in on a number of rackets and might have been murdered on this account.

MOTHER EARTH IS TAKING ON YEARS

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(INS)—The suspicion that earth is 1,852,000 years old is fairly correct.

At least that is the idea of the National Research Council's Committee on the Age-of-the-Earth, made public at Yale. Professor Charles Schuchert of Yale, believes that methods of calculating Earth's age from biological evidence have "no validity in fact." Professor Ernest W. Brown, of Yale, reports there is no astronomical data that may be used in the work.

Professor Adolph Knopf, of Yale, finds very unreliable the method of determining the age of the ocean from its salt content, and then applying the thing to Earth.

But Professor Arthur Holmes, of Durham University, and Professor Alois Kovarik, of Yale, have worked out the plan of calculating these things on the basis of disintegration of radioactive elements, and both have reached the same conclusion, that Earth is 1,852,000 years old.

Professors Holmes and Kovarik, according to the committee on Age-of-the-Earth, used different methods of approach in getting to the same conclusion. The committee, appointed in 1927, will issue its detailed report on the subject of Earth's age in the near future.

"Millie" Comes To Fox Palace Sunday For Three Day Run

"Nobody owns me. I own myself. I'm myself, all alone, living my own life." That is the philosophy of "Millie" born of her contact with men.

"Millie" is the fiery-haired heroine of the Donald Henderson Clarke novel which has been produced for Radio Pictures and opens Sunday at the Fox Palace theater.

"Millie's" story is that of a young girl whose heart takes her from a village school room to be the wife of a philanthropist New Yorker. Her faith in love is rudely shaken by the affairs of her husband, but her faith in men is still intact until she has given her heart to a young reporter who also tired of her caresses and shows a preference toward blondes.

With the close of these two unfortunate flurries in romance she becomes an advocate of independence and has reached a point and her romantic affairs are carried on in a superficial way. She attempts to treat men as they have treated her and succeeds until she finds that man is striking at her from another source. At this point the gaiety of the story gives way to seething drama bringing on a tremendous climax.

Helen Twelvrees, who has recently been hailed in emotional roles such as "Her Man," is cast as a flame-haired girl. The supporting cast includes Lilyan Tashman, Robert Ames, Joan Blondell, John Halliday, James Hall and Anita Louise. "Millie" was directed by John Francis Dillon.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The cost of living continues to come down and has reached a point where the purchasing power of the 1926 dollar was $1.325 in February, the bureau of labor statistics announced today.

Wholesale prices dropped 2 per cent in February from the January level, while the retail cost of food decreased about 4-1/3 per cent, and 17 per cent since February a year ago.

1800 Baby Chicks Burned to Death

CEDAR RAPIDS—(INS)—It is estimated today that eighteen hundred baby chicks perished in two fires which last night destroyed several brooder houses of the Cedar Rapids hatchery. An overheat stove is believed to have caused one of the fires, while crossed electrical wires are believed to be responsible for the other.

The two big leagues played to 10,000,000 fans last year and paid out $3,500,000 in salaries.

Tests at the Illinois agricultural experiment station have indicated that large horses are better than small ones for pulling heavy loads and that animals' disposition is an important factor.

BEGIN LAYING PIPE IN RIVER

First of 6 Lines Across River to Take 10 Days

Actual laying of the first of the six lines to cross the river here on the Texas to Chicago natural gas pipeline began today near the Illinois shore. It will take 10 or 12 days to complete the first line under the Mississippi, officials of the Pacific Bridge company estimate connected near the levees to the mate.

The six lines of 12-inch pipe will double lines of 18-inch pipe used to pipe the gas near the river. These double lines, in turn, are connected with the single 24-inch pipe used for the greater part of the overland line.

The smaller pipe is being used under the river because it has less buoyancy than the larger pipe, and also to permit any line that develops a leak to be closed for repairs. Valves of unusual design are used to connect the 12-inch lines with the 18-inch. There is a large gate valve on each end of each 12-inch line. As the pressure of the gas is so great as to make it impossible to open these valves, a pipe of smaller diameter, equipped with a small valve, is used to connect the pipe on both sides of the large valve. When it is desired to open a large valve, the small valve is opened and enough gas passes through the smaller pipe to reduce pressure to a point where the large valve can be opened.

The pipe is being lowered into the trench dredged last week from a barge with a specially built ramp, or slide. As one of the 120-foot lengths is welded to the last, the barge is towed about 120 feet and another length welded to the lengthening line. The flexibility of the steel pipe permits one end of the line to be on the barge while the middle rests on the river bed.

The Methods Of The A. M. A.

In the People's Pulpit column today is a communication from Dr. Martin M. Kors of Chicago, who, like Norman Baker, has run up against the dictatorial power of the American Medical association. Like the treatments at the Baker hospital, Dr. Kors' methods in his specialty have not been investigated although his office is only a few blocks from the headquarters of the American Medical association in Chicago.

We do not pretend to know anything about medical theories. We presume that the American Medical association is not above reproach in some of its practices as we know that there are undoubtedly many quack remedies and devices on the market which should be combatted not only by the American Medical association but everybody who has the best interests of humanity at heart. Many of these "cure-alls" have been eliminated after an investigation has been made. Only the other day an alleged electrical device was exposed which consisted of a pipe filled with gravel with a few wires on each end. The pipe was sealed of course and the "patient" took it for granted that the "curative" properties, which proved to be the aforesaid gravel, were contained inside. The contraption probably cost not over a dollar at the most and sold for $35. That strikes us as being altogether a too easy way of making a living to say nothing of the harm to the people who were duped. The investigators doubted the efficacy of this "cure"—and proved it.

But now comes Dr. Kors who says he has been successful in his specialty without resorting to the generally accepted method of operations, an exactly parallel case to that of the Baker hospital. Dr. Kors declares he has not been investigated although his office is only a few steps from the A. M. A. headquarters, and neither has the Baker hospital.

That the medical authorities and others are not adverse to investigations is shown by the elimination of several fake remedies. This being true does it not seem strange that similar action has not been taken long since in connection with the Baker institution and the Chicago physician? If the Baker hospital is a menace to humanity, as they claim, why not at least attempt to prove it? Why this long delay? Why sneak through the back door by endeavoring to "make laws fit the case" without consideration of its merits? Assuming what Mr. Baker's opponents claim is correct, do you know of anything that would be a greater cause for direct action, for an impartial investigation so that this alleged menace could be removed immediately as it should be—if their claims are proved?

Doesn't it seem strange to you that while many other investigations have been made in halting the operations of quacks, not even a semblance of an investigation, urged repeatedly by Mr. Baker himself, has materialized here?

Again we repeat, isn't it somewhat puzzling?

We leave it to your common sense. If there was a menace to your health in your neighborhood you wouldn't go to Des Moines to get them to pass a law to remedy it. You would have it removed within 24 hours or know the reason why.

That's what stumps us—this reason why.

They have said a lot of uncomplimentary things about this Muscatine institution and its owner. Is it possible they fear they will have to eat their own words, which, if so, would be a more bitter pill to swallow than any yet devised by a physician?

Lyons Klub Spelling Be

It is a nice thing to no how to spel. When upwards of 2 hundred yung pepul compeat fur to see who kan spel the best that is a good thing. Spelling is not so ezy. They aint eny to meny good spellers even among the old folks. Yu kant lern to meny wurdz an the more yu no the beter yu are off.

Which is by way of saying that the Lyons klub of Muscatine deserves credit for conducting the county spelling contest in progress today at the Jefferson school.

Don't be ashamed if you do not know how to spell, that is do not hide your lack of ability from others. The only way to learn is to expose your weakness. And take heart even if you fall down on an easy one. We were listening to a radio spelling contest the other night in which winners in district contests were competing. These boys and girls were supposed to "know their onions" and yet one of them spelled the smelly vegetable "union" and another, who must have spent some sleepless nights worrying over the contest, spelled "mattress" something like this as we recall it—"materuss." With the boys and girls up in Chicago making these kind of mistakes we Muscatine folks could show them a few things.

You can't learn to spell too early, or too late for that matter. Keep up the good work. You will find it will pay big dividends in future years.

A Bank Goes To Bat For Labor

National statistics show that as men are gradually returning to work they find they are compelled to accept a lower wage scale in many instances than prevailed before the depression if they want the job. It is either that or continued idleness for they are told what is undoubtedly true that if they do not accept plenty of other men will take their places. Labor organizations are fighting strenuously to combat this tendency but the business interests, which pledged the maintenance of wages a few months ago, are not so emphatic these days. However, we come across exceptions. One of these is the "Business Observer," house organ of a Chicago bank, which says:

"The movement to reduce wages in the interest of business recovery is unsound. By permitting wages to hold while prices decline purchasing power will be enhanced and such commodity prices as have already fallen beyond the general trend of prices will tend to be brought back into line, but only if wage costs entering into them are not reduced."

"On the contrary, if wage reductions were to become a widespread policy at the present time, it would undoubtedly intensify the commodity price recession, curtail buying power still further and prolong the depression."

There's a bank whose interests are not solely confined to the $$$$$$.

If they are still looking for an appropriate name for the new Rockefeller Radio City this department suggests calling it "Mike's Place."

Our Platform for the People Is:

1. Less taxation.
2. Fewer state commissions.
3. Universal school books.
4. Lower freight rates.
5. Return of river transportation.
6. A cleanup of some state institutions.
7. More efficiency in public offices.

"TWO LABORATORIES"

Man is always striving to learn nature's secrets. Rising life and limb to learn more about what is on the earth, in the earth, and above or outside of the earth.

Everywhere, in all countries, man is spending millions of dollars building laboratories and experimenting in every conceivable way with every kind of substance and material, including poor dumb animals; seeking the underlying principles of health.

Nature has the most wonderful laboratory. Man also has some fine laboratories but he cannot duplicate nature when it comes to preparing sustaining foods and medicinal substances for the up keep of the human body.

Man's food and medicine may be found side by side in the same fields.

The object of both food and medicine is to restore and maintain the energies of life.

We know that the more simple natural foods are better for us than the lifeless devalitized products which are now on the market. The same rule applies to any remedies which we may use to relieve our sufferings.

Is it not a foolish idea to talk and preach about diet, prepare balanced meals, figure out so many calories and so on types of vitamins a day, and then, when we feel sick and rundown, seek relief in harmful mineral medicines, and dangerous experimental drugs, vaccines, serums, X-ray, radium and so forth. Some of these might be all right in their natural states but their virtues are questionable, after concocted in to some of the present day formula. One reason, probably the main reason, why there has been such a trend toward other methods of healing today is just because of the fact that man has tried to exist apart from nature. It can't be done.

Up until about 1885, the best physicians used root and herb teas in treating their patients. This made quite a messy affair and I suppose the secrecy of the medicine was often exposed by the patient recognizing some of the herbs used in the tea.

Men forgot his patient when the pharmacist came to his rescue with his knowledge of preparing tinctures and extracts and pills. This was fine for the physician; making him superior (?) and his formulas great and mysterious. This enabled the doctors to work together with a secrecy which has developed into one of the greediest monopolies of the 20th century.

This is the answer to the question, "why is the public afraid of the medical profession?"

The public has become tired of being fed poisons and experimenting with, and the profession, in order to live and keep their beautiful hospitals filled, and to furnish material for their internship, has made a flank attack as it were, by having laws enacted whereby compulsory measures enable them to use our bodies and our children's bodies for their own selfish ends.

In many respects we have no say as to what may be done with the house God gave us to live in.

Of late years the medical profession has become aware that tinctures and extracts change their chemical composition and their potency is lessened.

The time will come when the care of the sick will be greatly simplified and the treatment of the sick will be more in harmony with nature.

Natural foods and medicines can be found for all the ailments of mankind, and when these are used in their natural, unaltered state, the body will receive the active principle, whether it be food or medicine; the body will build up strength and resistance to disease by virtue of their full organic mineral content.

How many are there today who can go through some of the physical tortures used by the Indians in their native dances. For instance, who can take a knife and slip it under the chest muscles, or the back muscles, making a cut large enough to push a stick through; then being hung up there by these sticks and long thongs of hide, to swing and wiggle in the air.

Aside from the agony we would have to endure there is the fact that our bodies contain too much poison. Infection would set in and then goodbye.

The Indians kept their bodies clean internally. No doubt they were plenty dirty and greasy on the outside, especially after living all winter in smoke tepees and hogans. But they kept their blood stream clean by going to "nature's laboratory" for their remedies.

We must always study and learn in friendly terms with nature. We are a part of her. We cannot exist without the substances which she provides, and the more we adulterate it the worse we are.

It is about time for us all to take a recess and check over the wealth of material already at hand. There must be enough practical information on record now from which we can make a more universal application of common sense health measures.

Enough mistakes have been made to show right is from wrong and rehearsal would no doubt bring to light points which have been overlooked previously.

The benefits of such a procedure can not be estimated. Think of the good that could be accomplished if the million and a half dollars which was bequeathed a few days ago for more cancer research work was used to investigate the proven methods already being used.

It should be much more sensible and humane to use the methods which are in use and in plain sight, if we want to see them, and clean up the middle we are already wading through, instead of turning our backs and spending this money for spite.

Instead of trying to develop new substances in man's laboratories let us use what nature has already provided for us if we will only look and learn.

Apparatus has been invented in England which shows by tests with a fair degree of certainty whether a person can become a good airplane pilot or not.

Scientists in Brazil are trying to develop a satisfactory motor fuel from alcohol to provide a profitable outlet for the by-products of the sugar industry.

The chemical exports and imports of the United States balanced last year for the first time in many years, each being valued at approximately $172,000,000.

BOBBY COON DOESN'T KNOW HE IS AWAKE

Oh, tell me, some one, if you will.

Am I awake or dreaming still? So cried Bobby Coon to no one in particular, because no one was there to hear him. Bobby was in a dreadful state of mind. He couldn't tell for the life of him whether he was awake or asleep and dreaming.

I cannot think of a much worse state of mind than that, can you?

You remember that dreadful dream Bobby Coon had had, the dream of the dreadful giant who had chased him into a hollow log and then beat on that log with a great club, frightening Bobby almost to death, filling his ears with a terrible roaring sound that made his head ache, and sending cold shivers all over him. Bobby was trying to make up his mind to rush out of the hollow log in spite of this dreadful giant, all in his dream, you know, when suddenly his eyes flew open and there he was safe in his bed in the hollow chestnut tree which he called his own.

Bobby gave a happy little sigh of relief, it seemed so good to find that dreadful experience only a dream. "Phew!" he exclaimed.

"That WAS a bad dream! And then right on top of that he gave a little squeal of fear. There was that awful pounding again. Was he still dreaming? Was he awake? For the life of him Bobby couldn't tell. There was that same awful sound he had heard in his dream, low log, but he wasn't in the hollow log; he was safe at home in his own warm bed. Had he somehow reached home without knowing it in that strange way that things are done in dreams, and had the dreadful giant followed him? That must be it. It must be that he was still dreaming. He wished that he would wake up.

Bobby closed his eyes as tightly as he knew how for a few minutes. Pound, pound, pound, sounded the dreadful blows. Then he opened his eyes. Surely this was his hollow tree, and certainly he felt very much awake. There was the sunlight peeping in at his doorway high overhead. Yet still those dreadful blows sounded—pound, pound, pound. His head ached still, harder than ever. And with every blow he jumped and a cold shiver ran over him from the roots of his tail to the tip of his nose.

Never in all his life had Bobby known such a mixed-up feeling. "Is this I or isn't it?" he whimpered. "Am I dreaming and think I'm awake, or am I awake and still dreaming? I'll know what I'll do. I'll bite my tail and if I feel it I'll know that I must be awake."

So Bobby took the tip of his tail in his mouth and bit it gently. Then he wondered if he really did feel it or just seemed to feel it. So he bit it again, and this time he bit hard.

"Ouch!" cried Bobby. "That hurt. I must be awake. I'm awake. I'm awake. But if I'm awake what dreadful thing is happening? Is there a real giant outside pounding on my tree?"

Then Bobby noticed something else. With every blow his house seemed to tremble. At first he thought he imagined it, but when he put his hands against the wall he felt it tremble. It gave him an awful sinking feeling inside. He was sure now that he was awake. Very much awake. He was sure, too, that something dreadful was happening to his hollow tree, and he couldn't imagine what it could be. And what is more, he was afraid to climb up to his doorway and look out to see.

Next Story: Bobby Coon Has a Horrible Fright.

For preparing articles for microscopic examination a machine has been invented that will cut 25,000 slices to the inch from almost any material.

Mines of the Union of South Africa yielded 10,716,895 fine ounces of gold last year, or more than 300,000 ounces in excess of the 1929 recovery.

To prevent waste an electric light attachment has been invented that automatically shuts off the current a few minutes after it has been turned on.

The Mid-West Free Press wishes again to impress upon its readers that the People's Pulpit column is open to them. Write upon any subject you desire, local or national. Your letters will be published regardless of the editor's opinion on the subject. All communications to be printed promptly should not be over 200 words. Those longer must await the writer's turn before publication. All communications must be signed and contain the address of the author.

People's Pulpit:— From "What I have heard Mr. Baker has encountered the dictatorial powers of the American Medical association. It is a publishing house that poses as a medical association that has assumed the powers of a hierarchy. When a physician states he is a member of the American Medical association it means he has paid his subscription to the Journal and that his local society has collected the fee for the subscription. He cannot avoid paying it. It is the most widely subscribed medical journal in the country—and the least read. You can go into thousands of physicians' offices and see the Journal piled up unopened.

The association, as I have stated, has assumed hierarchical powers. All advancement in medicine must be done in a hierarchy. The primature of the few high priests. Otherwise it is spurious.

Millions upon millions of dollars have been contributed to endow research work by the wealthy people of this country. More money has been spent in medical research work the last few years, and less accomplished, than in any other field. In the radio industry what has been accomplished and why?

The radio industry freely admits that its wonderful progress, its marvelous development are due not to the big research laboratories but to the "attic research men" as they call them, individuals working alone in individual lines. The radio industry quickly recognized the work these "attic men" are doing and whenever one shows any thing of any possible value he is taken into the big research laboratories and every possible assistance is given to him.

But not so with the American Medical association. They only condemn and destroy. They privileged few only are permitted to think and do anything. These privileged few, through the American Medical association, kick every one that dares think for himself, down the stairs, into the street and in the gutter. They crush the research man who dares to be an individual and work in his own attic. I know for I have had this experience.

To show you what the American Medical association will stoop to do I will quote in part from letters they have sent out about me to inquiring people. Their object was to destroy me and I will admit they have been very powerful and exceedingly successful. Here is in part what they say in a form letter that they have been using. I have many of the letters and I wish I had a thousand more.

"Dr. M. L. Kors of Chicago, according to our records, received his diploma from Rush Medical College in 1896 and was licensed to practice in Illinois the same year. He is not a member of the Chicago Medical society nor a fellow of the American Medical association. It seems that as long ago as 1918 Dr. Kors was giving the so-called Tallman treatment for locomotor ataxia."

Then they talk about Tallman, although the inquiry was about me and gotters and not about Tallman or locomotor ataxia. Moreover, I was never associated with Tallman. But, as they have nothing to say about me, they ramble along and cover half a page, indirectly suggesting that Tallman might have been a quack. But they never said so. They say: "We have never made an investigation of the Tallman method." Why did they not make an examination or investigation of the Tallman treatment before condemning him? Among the letters that the association has written in reply to inquiries about me is one to an ex-senator. Twenty years ago three physicians told this senator he could not live ninety days. He then went to Tallman and was treated. Today he is in fine physical health, walks whenever he so desires, drives his car and is active in the practice of law.

I'd like to own a jungle— A dense and trackless jungle— Where lions strayed Through glen and glade And pumas made their lairs. I'd like to have my home there, So daily I might roam there, And quite forget The fust and fret Of dull mundane affairs.

Shut out from noise and hurry, Afoot from cruel worry, I'd pluck my bread From overhead— (The kind that grows on trees.) And, when the tropic twilight Fell, crimson on the skylight, All griefs forgot, I'd seek my cot And rest in perfect ease.

"It is not so bad as . . ."

"Now we know that to state a negative condition one should write:

"It is not so bad as . . ."

"Is this an oversight on this gentleman's part?"

"The other clipping has singular and plurals badly mixed."

Answer: The first excerpt was from "Calvin Coolidge Says." The accepted locution in a negative comparison is not so bad as . . .

The second excerpt set as follows:

"Charles Sweeney of New York, former president of Federal Mining and Smelting Company, with Mrs. Sweeney and son, Robert, were visitors in Spokane."

In the foregoing sentence, the verb "were" is incorrect. It should be changed to "was." Why? The subject of the sentence is "Charles Sweeney." Nouns coupled to the subject by the preposition "with" do not make a plural subject. Watch for the spring test. Tell all your friends about it. (Copyright, 1931)

RABBITS SHOULD NOT BE LIFTED BY THEIR EARS

CHAS. DRAYO— of Le Roy, N.Y.— ATE 25 EGGS IN ONE MINUTE, 58 SECONDS

Early one morning in the year 1826, Franz Schubert was breakfasting in a tavern with several friends. While quietly sipping his tea, he noticed one of his friends reading a translation of Shakespeare's Cymbeline. In looking over the book, Schubert came to the words, "Hark, hark, the lark." He exclaimed, "if only I had paper here, I have just the right setting for this poem." His friends quickly ruled the back of a bill of fare for him, and in less than twenty minutes Schubert had composed his beautiful song, with complete harmony.

Rabbits suffer a great deal from people lifting them by the ears. Contrary to the popular notion, this is not the correct way to lift a rabbit in fact it hurts them. The proper way to pick up the bunny is to seize its skin just behind the shoulders.

Charles Dravo, proprietor of a restaurant, began his career of egg gulping when he ate 40 raw eggs in 5 minutes. Some time later when H. O. Fredericks, another egg eater, consumed 45 eggs in 10 minutes, Dravo thought it time to settle the question once and for all, and performed his record-breaking feat.

MUSKIES MEET GILMAN FIVE IN SEMI-FINAL TODAY

DES MOINES, Ia.—(INS)—Four tired basketball teams today will fight it out for the Iowa State high school basketball championship. They are the only survivors of sixteen teams that began play here Thursday in the state finals and move into the semi-finals today by virtue of victories yesterday over four other teams which had won their first round battles.

Boone and Roosevelt, Des Moines, will meet in the first contest this afternoon with the Capital City school a right favorite by virtue of a well-earned victory over Abraham Lincoln, Council Bluffs, last night.

Praise Muskies

Muscatine, the strong Eastern Iowa Five had a slight scare thrown into it yesterday by Mount Ayr before throwing all its strength into a fourth period finish, will meet Gilman, the only Class B school to survive the first round. Gilman, victorious yesterday over a crippled Goldfield five, will have its hands full with the strong Muskies who came to Des Moines one of the strongest favorites to take home the 1931 title.

The losers of the semi-final battles will meet at 7:15 tonight for a consolation final while the championship will be decided in a tilt between the winners beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Central Iowa has a stronger chance than for several years to annex the state title with the semi-finalists from that district. Muscatine, the only Eastern Iowa school to come through to the final day's play, is, however, considered the most logical contender today.

To Broadcast Game

As large a crowd as any that has yet viewed this tournament is expected for the Boone-Roosevelt game this afternoon. The two teams are not new rivals and Boone is only fifty miles from Des Moines so that it will be possible for a large number of spectators to attend. Roosevelt has a strong following of course will be on hand.

The final game tonight will be broadcast by WHO-WOC, Des Moines and Davenport, by the Central Broadcasting company. The play by play description of the championship battle will be given by Andy Wolfrey, veteran sports announcer for Iowa State college's station, WOI.

The expected great battle between Council Bluffs and Roosevelt fell flat last night when a far superior Des Moines team shut out the underdog Bluffs nearly all the way. The final score was 32 to 20.

Coach Carl Harris' fourteen-year-old sensation, McMichael, was the leading factor in the Roosevelt offense with nineteen points. The lanky youth was deadly with the low-up shot in addition to seven goals counted five times from the free throw line.

Council Bluffs, tired from its stiff encounter the day before with Lehigh and without the services of its two regular guards, looked for just another basketball team most of the time. Occasionally the Lynx would show a flash of the ability that brought them to the final games but for the most part their attack was smothered by the roughriders.

The only time Roosevelt was threatened was in the second quarter when after the local team had pulled ahead 9 to 4, Council Bluffs evened the score before Roosevelt scored again; McMichael dropped in a basket and when Goecker of Council Bluffs again tied the score the young Roosevelt star got busy and snagged five points to enable the winners to lead 16 to 11 at half time. They were never headed after that.

Muscatine had difficulty in penetrating the Mount Ayr defense until the final quarter but during the last period rolled in nine points to down the Southern Iowa five 22 to 12.

Barko, Muscatine's tall center, couldn't get under way during the first half and this was another reason that the Mount Ayr quintet was able to hang within two or three points of the Muskies for three-fourths of the game. During the last period, however, the tall pivot man began to function in his best style. He dropped in four goals during the last half to make his total for the day, eleven points. Mount Ayr played much better than it did the day before in up-hill setting Diagonal who had twice previously downed Mount Ayr. Natron, Mount Ayr center, with seven points, was largely responsible for keeping his team in the running as long as it was. He shot five free throws for perfect record from the charity line.

PROSPECTS FOR NET TEAM GOOD

Junior College Net Stars Waiting For Courts to Dry

The Junior College tennis team awaits only fair weather to dry out the courts so that it can get under way for another successful season. Francis Weis, Kenneth Huber and Harold Smith, last year's veterans, will again be on the tennis team this year. Coach Lyman Green announced today. Last year Weis took the singles match in Burlington when Muscatine copped the Black Hawk conference title. The fast combination of Weis and Huber also managed to bring home the doubles matches at that time.

A good racket swinger in last year's team. However, a worthy replacement in recruits is looked for this season.

Two Tourney Games At Y Monday Night

The Standard Oil basketball team will meet Pleasant Prairie at 7:45 o'clock Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. in the fourth round of the Inter-league tournament. At 8:30 o'clock the "Y" team will encounter Brown's basketball.

Coach Green anticipates a successful season. He told the Free Press that he expects even better results this year than last.

Same during the first half on personal fouls and his twin E. Keister, out part of the contest because of an attack of cramps, the Goldfield quintet was without its scoring power and despite a courageous rally in the second half lost to Gilman 22 to 19.

Goldfield trailed at the half time 16 to 4. At the start of the third period Scott Keister, who had to be carried to the locker room during the second quarter, put on one of the game exhibitions of the tournament to lead his mates in a rally.

Feeding the ball to Freeman, a substitute, the Goldfield five counted fifteen points during the final half to come within three points of the winners. Freeman got ten points in the two quarters he played.

Westfield, lanky Gilman center, led his team to victory. He got six points each half.

Boone and Alta began what looked like a great game, but ended in a one-sided triumph for Boone. The final score was 25 to 17.

The game started out fast with Canakes, Boone forward, and Lowell Peterson, Alta forward, leading the attacks. At the end of the quarter Boone led 6 to 4, and at the half was ahead 16 to 11.

Beauchamp, Boone's center, who swished in ten goals Thursday night, was able to get only three goals last night. Wingo, Boone guard, played an excellent game. He was constantly intercepting Alta passes to halt the losers' attack.

JEBY DEFEATS LEN HARVEY IN EASY FASHION

British Boxer Fades Out as American Attraction

By LES CONKLIN
INS Sports Writer
NEW YORK.—(INS)—Len Harvey, British middleweight champion, was definitely thrown today as a headline attraction in this country.

Harvey, beaten twice previously here by Vince Dundee, was given his last chance to stick in the limelight at Madison Square Garden last night, and he failed. Ben Jebby of New York, a second-rater, won the decision over the pallid Briton in twelve rounds of dull milling and definitely relegated him to the ham-and-egg class.

Makes Poor Showing

Even with an immense advantage over his opponent in height and reach, John Bull's boy was unable to win. A typical British boxer to the core, he was strictly a counter fighter and failed to follow up the smashing overhand right which he landed occasionally. He allowed little Jebby to bore in and pile up points with his body punching.

Len can't take it in the breadbasket. Time and again, he folded up and held on when Jebby worked on him down below.

The decision of the referee and judges in Jebby's favor was unanimous. A few observers gave Harvey a one-round edge, while others thought Jebby won handily. The writer gave Jebby the edge by a one-round margin.

Harvey himself did not complain about the decision, although he had squawked over the judges' decision in his two fights with Dundee. He was undecided about his future plans today. He may visit England and engage in one bout there, but plans to return here eventually.

Record Blasted

Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, has signed for a bout with Harvey here and must go through with it or later. If Fields trims the Briton, maybe Harvey will wind up by fighting Midget Wolgast. Len's record of 359 victories, including 200 knockouts, in 350 fights abroad, doesn't mean anything to American fight fans now. He has completely fumbled his chance of meeting Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, in a title bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, under the promotion of his new manager, Jimmy Johnston.

Tom McArdle, Garden matchmaker, was planning to plant Jebby against Dundee in April or May. Only Dundee and two other men have beaten Jebby, and Ben defeated the other two in return engagements.

The fight will have little bearing on the title situation, however. You could throw Dundee, Sid Terry and Walker in a cellar and lock the door, and Mickey would be the one to emerge.

Jebby hails from the Old Ghetto on the East Side, the section that produced Benny Leonard, Al Singer, Ruby Goldstein, Sid Terry and other Jewish ring idols. Many of the 8,000 fans who saw the show last night were his supporters. Those who bet on their favorites profited handsomely, for Harvey was a 9 to 5 favorite in the wagering.

OXFORD GIVEN EIGHTH LACING

Cambridge Crew Easy Victor in Race On Thames

By F. A. WRAY
PUTNEY-THAMES, Eng.—(INS)—For the eighth year in succession the magnificent eight of Cambridge university administered a stinging defeat to Oxford in the annual boat race here today, finishing a full two and one-half lengths ahead of their traditional rivals in the eighty-third running of the event.

The victory dashed Oxford's hopes of tying the total score, for it gave Cambridge forty-two victories to Oxford's forty.

With approximately 1,000,000 spectators lining the banks of the Thames, hanging over bridges, in special trains, punts and powerboats along the river's edge, Cambridge shot into the lead at the getaway and never lost its advantage.

Cambridge's time for the gruelling four and one-half mile test of brain and brawn was officially recorded at 19 minutes and 28 seconds. The Cambridge crew was credited officially with a two and one-half length victory.

SHAM-ROCKS By Irish

Here it is almost the end of the state basketball tournament at Des Moines and we hear no more from that HOMADE HOOCH concocter who cast reflections upon the ability and class of the Little Muskies and referred to Muscatine as being just a suburb of Davenport. Nor do we see that the great record made by the Little Muskies in going through the season undefeated to date is getting much of a play in the Davenport papers. Is Davenport still on the map? It's on the Rand McNally all right enough but it's only a dot on the basketball map since meeting Muscatine.

As a popular cartoonist frequently points out, "Heroes are Made, Not Born," we are going to make ourself a hero by predicting that Coach Bob Kinnan's great Muscatine team will win the state high school championship by about a 19 to 12 margin. If this is the correct score we'll make ourself another hero by forgetting to remember that famous last line, "we told you so." And if we're off we'll say it was just one of those typographical errors. And you can't beat that.

It may be Boone that the Little Muskies will beat in the finals but at this writing (10:15 p. m. Friday) it looks like Roosevelt HI of Des Moines to us. Just now got the dope that the Roosevelt boys trimmed Council Bluffs, 32-20, and looked pretty sweet in doing it.

However, the Little Muskies still look sweeter than sweet to us and we don't think this is a Roosevelt year anyway. Nor a Boone one either if it meets Muscatine.

We believe the Little Muskies will be state champions at 9 o'clock tonight because they have waded through Wilton, Morning Sun, Lone Tree, Davenport, Ottumwa, Iowa City, Elma and Mt. Ayr in successive sectional district and state tournament games up to 2:40 p. m. today and have not once displayed the class that marked all of their previous play. And we figure that Barko, Hahn, Utley, Weber, J. Wilson et al. are overdue to hit their usual stride tonight. AND THAT MEANS SOMETHING.

We beg to acknowledge receipt of a letter signed by "A Bunch of the Fans," in which we are taken to task for failing to run pictures of the Muscatine high school stars and thereby giving them some deserved credit for the great record made this year by the Little Muskies. "How would the regular five get their workout if it were not for the five subs? They kept training the same as the first team," the letter points out. Very true and we thank the "bunch" for their interest in the Free Press sport pages. We tried to get a picture of the whole squad at the Davenport tournament but it didn't turn out so well so we are making arrangements to get another when the state champions come home from Des Moines.

Just can't help calling attention to the fact that the Free Press scooped the state with mention of Mascot "Kenny" McInyre of the Little Muskies and the big hand the huge crowd gave the tiny lad for shooting baskets before and during the halves of the Muscatine game at Des Moines. THE FREE PRESS LEADS AND OTHERS FOLLOW.

WEST LIBERTY, Ia.—(Special)—Benefit basketball game played Friday night between teams of the St. Joseph's Catholic church here and the St. Ambrose squad of Davenport, resulted in the local team's defeat by a 30 to 18 score. The game was played on the local high school floor.

All money realized from the game will be used by the local church. No report of the receipts has been made.

Tex Blankenship, former White Sox pitcher, is with San Antonio.

WOMAN DEFIES SLUR ON SEX

Wellesley Art Head Declares Culture Non Sectarian

BOSTON.—(INS)—Culture with women—is it skin deep like beauty or is woman on the same plane or more advanced in that field than man?

Controversy over this question has been brought about by Professor Robert E. Rogers, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whose advice to graduates to "be a snob" and "marry the boss" daughter" brought him fame. Professor Rogers in an opinion of a statement by Dr. Charles Gray Shaw, of New York University, that woman will have supplanted men within fifty years in creative culture, declared that it was merely a "vener and not very deep."

Miss Murtilla Avery, head of the art department at Wellesley College, rallied to the aid of her sect and declared Professor Rogers' opinion a "silly thing."

Women are making such a fuss over cultured organizations, according to Professor Rogers, they seem to be progressing faster than men but they are "merely applying a varnish or veneer from the outside."

"Men," Miss Avery declared "are not subtle thinkers. They are slow observers so that women with smatterings of culture might appear to them to be cultured. Women who have had a broad education and are really cultured are more so than most cultured men.

"Yet it is probable there are more women with smatterings of culture than there are men. Men cannot get away with giving the impression that they are cultured while women with a little culture can more easily give the impression of being really cultured, something which men are infrequently observant enough to find out."

"I think that culture is neither masculine nor feminine. It does take varied forms and differs as widely among men as it does among women. It is true that men have a better chance to get culture than women because they have less restricted opportunities. They are not restricted to hours for instance; they can be abroad at any hour and it is perfectly proper for them. Men do not have as many things to do as women. They do not have to add all the household cares and the children's troubles to their business of being a man. It is difficult for a woman to be as free as man."

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—Preparations for the inauguration of a "university of the air" are being made by Oglethorpe university, following the granting of a permit by the Federal Radio Commission for the installation of a 100-watt broadcasting station on the university campus, according to an announcement made by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of the school.

The station will operate on 1,310 kilocycles, and broadcasting will be inaugurated with the opening of the fall term of the university, according to tentative plans announced by Dr. Jacobs.

THINK SMITH'S WIFE TRIED TO MEET HUSBAND

Woman Will Be Queried About Attempted Auto Tryst

FERRY, Ia. — (INS) — Police planned today to question Mrs. John Smith, wife of the missing Perry manufacturer and former candidate for governor in Iowa, regarding a supposed meeting with two men last night, which was frustrated by officers. The rendezvous was to have been held several miles from Perry but officers pursuing the automobile in which the two men were riding and the machine Mrs. Smith drove, interfered. Mrs. Smith's car overturned in the soft dirt beside the road while the yellow-wheeled coupe bearing the unknown men, escaped in the heavy traffic on highway No. 7. Mrs. Smith was uninjured.

Deputies Follow Car
Sheriff C. A. Kneel of Dallas county was informed last night that Mrs. Smith had agreed to meet with the two men by telephone. Deputy sheriffs were assigned to watch the home of the missing politician and when Mrs. Smith appeared, she was followed by the officers. Deputy sheriffs Chase and McCarthy followed the automobile to the junction of highways No. 169 and No. 7, about 15 miles south of Perry.

A yellow wheeled coupe was observed to pass Mrs. Smith's automobile and the two machines slackened their speed, momentarily, but soon speeded up as the officers followed. Near Dallas Center the car in which Mrs. Smith was driving left the road and plunged into a ditch. The deputies continued after the speeding coupe but lost it on the crowded highway.

Max H. E. Been Smith
Sheriff Kneel stated he believed that one of the men in the yellow-wheeled automobile, bearing a Minneapolis license, was Smith, who has been followed by the officers, when his truck, containing the body of a man, was found burned near Denison. At first it was believed the body was that of Smith but later examination revealed it was not the manufacturer.

A photograph of Smith has been tentatively identified by Rex Pritchard, attendant at an oil station near De Soto, where the car was stopped and purchased supplies from him last Friday.

'Malga,' Fresh Cream Substitute, Offered By Danish Concerns
WASHINGTON, D. C. — (Special) — A substitute for fresh cream, which is finding a market in many homes, is being manufactured by four Danish firms, according to information supplied by the Department of Commerce. Further information was furnished as follows:

The new product, which is based on various patents, has been put on the market both in Denmark and abroad in the course of the last year, and consists of milk blended into an emulsion with a percentage of fine, edible vegetable oil corresponding to the fatty content of ordinary cream. It is sterilized, and sold under the names, "Credin" and "Malga," in hermetically sealed tins, "Mico" in bottles, each in two quantities, one containing small proportions of fat and intended for use with coffee, tea, and fruit dishes, and the other of richer quality suitable for whipping into a foam like ordinary double cream for use with salads, cakes, and so forth.

During the comparatively short time that has passed since the manufacture was taken up, the new product has found a ready market in Denmark, where it is much appreciated in many households on account of its fresh, pure taste and its keeping properties.

Coming of Tractor Foretold Long Ago
By Abraham Lincoln

Seventy years ago at the Milwaukee State fair, Abraham Lincoln predicted the coming of a mechanically drawn plow. In an address on September 30, he said: "I have thought of a good device in an abstract way, about a steam plow. That one which shall be contrived as to apply the larger portion of its power to the cutting, stirring, turning of the soil and the smallest to the moving itself over the field, will be the best one."

It is probable that few of Mr. Lincoln's hearers considered his idea of a "steam plow" a practical one. Even Lincoln the dreamer could hardly have envisioned the development which led to the present day tractor, making it capable of exerting a dead pull at the drawbar equal to from 80 to nearly 100 per cent of its weight.

Farm Manager's Problems Studied by Federal Group

Efforts Are Made to Determine Best Practices

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (Special) — Statistical material, drawn from various sources enables the division of Farm Management and Costs of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, department of agriculture to conduct researches of the various problems faced by managers of farms, according to C. I. Holmes, chief of the division. Work of the department is described as follows:

The research activities of this division have two general objectives: First, that of studying the form and function of business organization as found among the 6,000,000 and more farms of the country in terms of their regional and local variations; the comparative efficiency and profitability of the various systems of farming, and the factors that are making this or that type more or less profitable in the dynamic economic medium in which American agriculture finds itself.

This involves studies of the size of production unit, the program of production in terms of the combination of products being put out, the combination of productive resources being used, and technical processes employed in production. The second objective is that of studying the efficiency of farm operation as it affects costs and profits. The research needed for the reaching of an understanding of agriculture, particularly from the point of view of the proprietary functions of organization and management, is partly statistical and partly qualitative.

Series of Prospects
We need, first of all, a series of research projects which will give us a thorough understanding of the medium in which the farmer functions. This medium is made up of physical conditions, such as soil, surface, climate, and the like; and of human factors, such as the farmer, which for the most part impinge upon the farmer through the price of products and the costs of the things he must use in his production.

This introduces a geographical phase into farm management research, inasmuch as there are wide and significant variations to be found in the natural and economic conditions of farm regions and from locality to locality. In fact, the outstanding economic problem of the farmer is to adjust his utilization of land and other productive resources to the market demands on the one hand and to the particular productive possibilities on the other.

The value of such research is to be found very largely in a broadened and more complete understanding of the farmer's own problem and in determining the actual and rational trends in farming. Such information is indispensable in the shaping of agricultural policy, by either public or private agencies.

Farmer in Business
This collection of general phase of farm management must be supplemented by studies aimed at the internal and individual phases of the farmer as a business proprietor. This inquiry touches such things as the financing of farm business enterprises, the determining of the proportion of relation between the various crops and classes of livestock which are grown, the selection of methods and of equipment to be used in farming, and the determining of an operating program for the carrying out of the purpose of the farm.

Such research acquaints the specialist with the actual business problems the farmer is facing, it reveals to him the wide range of effective work with various farmers are performing these functions, and it gives the basis for the determination of the best business and technical practices in the organization and operation of farms. It thus opens the way for the furnishing of material for education in the economy of farming to be used not only in the formal instruction work of colleges and schools, but in the less formal adult education involved in agricultural extension programs.

Material Is Collected
The statistical material for research is drawn from various sources. Perhaps the most important single source is the federal census which, through its statistics of crop acreages, size of farms, income, and land, livestock, and equipment, furnishes the foundation for type-of-farmings studies and for many other analyses indispensable to the research objectives already mentioned.

The soil surveys published by state agricultural experiment stations and by the Federal Department of Agriculture are indispensable for certain phases of this research. Reclamation project administrations gather annual statistics upon utilization of land within the project which are highly valuable, many of the states gather annual figures through tax assessors and other agencies which have the advantage of giving information by analysis of statistics more than the county, which is of great advantage in the more general aspect of this research.

In addition to all this material, however, the division itself gathers a vast amount of material first hand. Projects are established through which the cooperation of farmers is secured, which enables the division to receive from them current reports on their production programs, their expenses, their receipts, and many other details of their business operation. These form the basis of statistical and accounting analyses essential to the research objectives already mentioned.

Much Information Necessary
However, a vast amount of vital information necessary to the farm management research man cannot be reduced to formal statistics, he must observe first hand the operation of forces and conditions which are only partly to be measured in statistical terms. The accuracy with which he understands the things which he observes in his personal contact with farms and farmers determines to a great extent the accuracy and adequacy of his statistical analysis and the interpretation of the results of this analysis. The successful farm management research worker must be able to think himself into the farmer's own situation.

With the generalized view which he has through his statistical information and its analysis, coupled with his advantage in seeing numerous situations and hence being able to detect and interpret the working out of economic forces, he is enabled to understand, as the typical farmer cannot, the economic forces and conditions with which the farmer is contending.

It is this interpretation arrived at through painstaking and careful research, embodied in effective educational programs through schools and extension establishments, which should form the basis of a general program of agricultural readjustment in the United States in this period of economic depression and distress.

Manhattan Days and Nights
By Walter Trumbull

John Stevens Hammond, vice-president of Madison Square Garden, comes from an old and distinguished family. His grandfather was a general in the Civil War, and his father, John Stevens Hammond, was a West Point graduate. Col. Hammond was born in Crown Point, N. Y., and is the oldest of five brothers. Herick Hammond is an eminent Chicago architect, and John Hammond went to Michigan and Yost has named him as one of the greatest defensive backs of football. He was on Walter Camp's all-America squad. Going to war as a captain of field artillery with the Rainbow Division, he returned a lieutenant colonel, with all the decorations that could find to pin on him. He now is a peace time colonel of his old regiment, and president of a foundry company. Harry Hammond, once a Michigan end, is in the oil business, and Robert Hammond is with his brother Tom's company.

John S. Hammond went to Chicago University in the days of Ernest Leffingwell, Billy Bond and Jimmy Henry. After a view of his legs, A. Stagg decided that he was along with some old meat, and a small handful of salt to a large barrel of slop or about 60 gallons of slop feed.

In using the salt, never let it stand from one feed to the next, as it will become a brine and cause your sows to vomit and in some cases cause salt poisoning, which generally results in death. Salt is a splendid mineral, very appetizing, seasons the food, and is also an enemy of worms.

One good service is sufficient, whether the sow be aged or a gilt. Show the sow be aged, breed her the second or preferably the third day while in heat, then place her in a lot by herself.

If this cannot be done conveniently, then place her in a large pen where she can be quiet. It is always better to breed an aged sow when she is going out of heat, because she soon settles down and is already more apt to conceive. If breeding a gilt, it is best to breed her the first day while in heat.

Remedies For Trouble
If you are down with the blues, read the twenty-third Psalm.

If there is a chilly sensation about the heart, read the third chapter of Revelations.

If you don't know where to look for a month's rest, read the twenty-seventh Psalm.

If you are lonesome and unprotected, read the ninety-first Psalm, and the cook gone off in a pet.

If that slumber has fallen down, read the first chapter of St. James.

If you find yourself losing confidence in men, read the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians.

If people tell you with hard words read the fifteenth chapter of St. John and the fifty-first Psalm.

Move to the Farm
Oliver Wendell Holmes says: "To be seventy years young is sometimes far more cheerful and hopeful than to be forty years old. It is not rare to find men who are 80 years old and who still have the cheerfulness of those who are only twenty. They should put new life in the hearts of those who consider themselves at the end of their lives at 40. It is unfortunate for any man to retire and give himself to ease and idleness. As a rule farmers never retire and they seem almost immortal and die with their boots on. This is not the case with the laborer in the factory who is often discharged at forty. Then he begins to droop and lose heart. If city people were wise they would settle on the farm where they could be independent and work as long as they had breath.

HOPE TO FIND MISSING MEN
Balchen Expects to Fly Over Ice Today

ST. JOHNS, N. F. — (INS) — Despite foreboding weather forecasts, Bert Balchen and two companion fliers were determined today to take off immediately for the icefields of northern Newfoundland in a final attempt to locate the 28 men missing after Sunday's destruction of the sealing ship Viking.

The American air trio, which included Randy Enlow and Meriam C. Cooper, arrived here Friday after a speedy flight from Boston. They set out on their Arctic mission at the request of Dr. L. C. Frissell, father of Varick Frissell, motion picture producer of New York who was aboard the Viking at the time of the explosion and has not been seen since. Another American who remained unaccounted for was A. G. Penrod, cameraman.

The aviators will cruise over Horse Island and White Bay, scene of the tragedy in which some twenty men were killed outright, and scan the ice packs for any possible survivors. They will carry a load of food and medical supplies to drop to inhabitants of the island, who sheltered 127 men after their escape from the shattered ship and the hazardous ice fields.

The fliers themselves entertained little hope of finding further survivors, but said they would leave no hummock unscanned before giving up their attempt.

Tilden's Defeat of Kozeluh Kills Talk for Tennis Open

By H. H. DIRKES
(INS Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO — (INS) — Successive defeats of Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakian world's professional tennis champion, by Big Bill Tilden, has reduced the agitation by tennis fans for open tennis, and in opinion expressed today by men prominent in midwest tennis circles.

"Tilden defeated Kozeluh, who was supposed to be better than any amateur, so easily and quickly, that members of our club have expressed loss of interest in the open tournament," said John P. Byrnes, president of the Hyde Park Racquet Club, and veteran tennis official.

An official of the U. S. L. T. A., who asked that his name not be disclosed, said:

"The aging Tilden won so easily that he belied the talk of a close battle between Kozeluh and Henri Cochet, French ace, would refuse to be interested now."

On the other hand, some close followers of the racquet game who believe that Tilden's success in the recent tour through the east and midwest, was caused by Kozeluh's poor condition. These observers claim the little Czech jumped into the matches with Tilden, without having been in this country long enough to become acclimated.

For years, Kozeluh had been regarded as the ultimate in tennis perfection. His strokes were perfectly executed and his uncanny steadiness in base-line play was reinforced by unusual stamina.

In France, Karel spent years as a professional coach, and in that capacity, frequently met the stars of the amateur world in informal matches. While no official record was ever available, rumors trickled through telling of one or two-set beatings handed to such players as Lacoste and Cochet, French Davis Cup defenders.

When Kozeluh came to America some years ago and persuaded Vincent Richards, second ranking amateur at that time, to turn his talents into cash via exhibitions, the tennis world was not surprised when the Czech wonder "look" Vinnie with loss of only a few sets in a dozen matches.

One interesting argument was presented by a Chicago player, a pro at a fashionable country club.

Naturalist Risks Life for Sea Lion Photos in Alaska

OAKLAND, Cal. — (INS) — Anchoring a small boat above a volcanic island that frequently rises and sinks without warning into the depths of the Bering sea to take pictures was one of the hazards of William L. Finley, noted naturalist.

Finley has camped, cruised and collected pictures for many years in out-of-the-way corners of this country.

A summer's cruise into the big waters of Alaska was the best of all his trips, he says.

The Finley party left Iktan and, crawling through the treacherous pass between the Bering sea and the Pacific ocean, cruised along the Aleutian chain, camped for days at the foot of a belching volcano, where it anchored in the steaming and sulphurous crater of Bogoslof, the island that rises and sinks into the depths of the ocean without warning.

Finley managed to get pictures of the great colonies of sea lions and birds that live there, and had hardly steamed out of the crater when the island blew up again.

FOUR SQUARE CHURCH OLD FOOT GUARD TO HAVE REUNION

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — (INS) — Almost the first thing that the Second Company, Governor's Foot Guard did when it was organized in 1775, was to overpower the British selectmen of New Haven, seize all the town powder, and march away to Boston to aid their fellow countrymen resisting the British army.

The Second Company, Governor's Foot Guard of Connecticut, then proceeded to stay in action throughout the war of the Revolution, and wound up at Yorktown, Virginia, with the surrender of Cornwallis.

Modern-day Foot Guards are going down to Yorktown next October to help commemorate the affair with Cornwallis. In the ranks will be descendants of members of the first line-up of the Foot Guard. And the company will march in the bright red uniforms, modeled after their 1775 uniforms, and every man will wear a tall bearskin shako. They might almost be mistaken for the British soldiers of 1781.

Six months before they go to Virginia, the Foot Guard will celebrate the 156th anniversary of the seizure of the New Haven powder house, an occasion that today is marked with pageantry, the appearance of all the organizations and representatives of all the organizations that had part in the Revolution. The seizure took place on the last Monday of April, 1775, when a rider finally came through with news of Lexington fight, and on the last Monday of this April the celebration will be held here.

All nations and peoples practice some kind of religion. They have been led to believe that such is necessary to insure their future well-being. Religion means an outward form or ceremony of worship practiced by the people and by which they indicate their belief in the existence of a supreme being. He who worships Jehovah God in spirit and in truth does not need to perform any outward ceremony. The only worship with which Jehovah God is well pleased is that which is true and sincere and which is devoid of formalism. John 4:24. The church of Jehovah God is that class of people who come to God with the sincere desire to serve Him and whom he takes out and separates from the world. Col. 1:18 Eph. 1:22:23.
